Dominion Government Asks Public For Loan of $150,000,000

"Let your dollar serve Canada" is the slogan for the appeal which the Dominion Government has launched to raise $150,000,000 "to promote the economic and financial welfare of Canada" as it aptly put in the official circular containing details of the 1931 National Service Loan.

The offering of this considerable amount of bonds to investors is one of the most important financial undertakings this country has ever witnessed, certainly since the war days when Victory bonds were offered in large amounts and readily subscribed to save the country from foreign aggression.

Now the necessity has arisen of saving the country from economic consequences of an extraordinary character, and that the country will respond with the same promptness in answer to the question as when Canada stood on the verge of a cataclysm in the darkest days of the Great War.

One of the important features of this issue is that the public will receive a little more than 5 per cent on their investment. The bonds are being issued on a mature at the end of five years, according to the wishes of investors. The five year bonds are priced at 99 1/2 and the ten year maturity at 99 1/4. Both classes can be obtained in denominations of $500 and $1,000, but the five year issue can also be obtained $100 lots, which will appeal to people of modest means.

That there is a large amount of money awaiting a favorable opportunity for investment in some high class security, such as government bond provides, is unquestioned. The public have savings in the various banks aggregating upwards of $1,500,000,000. This total approximates an increase of $49,000,000 over the figures of a year ago, which goes to show that the public are displaying pronounced habits of thrift, one of the healthiest signs possible for any country.

Besides this source of purchasing power, it is stated on good authority that trust companies had a substantial reservoir of funds which would come into connection with just such an offering as the Dominion of Canada is making through the Department of Finance at Ottawa.

These are encouraging factors which ought to crown the offering with success if the public at large second the efforts of financial organizations of the country.

CHINA WANTS FOREIGN TROOPS TO HELP HER

A suggestion that foreign troops in the Orient be sent into Manchuria to preserve order was made by Chinese news Tuesday, while the Council of the League of Nations continued working on a compromise plan to solve the crisis.

Capt. Hudson, provincial organizer for the Canadian Legion, was in town yesterday on an official visit to the local branch. He reports conditions satisfactory here.

Grand Concert Here On December 11th

Will Be Held in School Room of Gordon Memorial

Gordon Memorial Ladies Aid committee is preparing a splendid program for a concert to be held in the church on Friday evening, December 11th. The program is being put on by the young people and promises to be one well worth seeing.

Among the numbers will be "The Scotch Brigade" in full dress uniforms and "The Hobo Band," either of which will be well worth the price of admission alone. Then there will also be a number of old favorite songs in costume; choruses and other musical selections, dialogues and readings, making a full evening's entertainment for a very small admission fee of 25c and 10c.

Don't miss seeing and hearing it. Encourage the young people by your presence. Tickets are now on sale. Be sure to get one when called on.

The free freight on feed for the district between Aldron and Walsh is now in effect and already several farmers in the district have placed their orders. Applications for feed in this district are being handled by R. S. Furber.

The Tuxis boys are busy these days gathering up old toys and mending them for distribution at Christmas. The boys will be glad to call at any home where there are such toys if you will just let them know. They should be encouraged in this movement.

Carl Wetters, who farms just west of town, met with a bad accident last week and as a result of which he has been confined to the house ever since. He was after the cows on horseback when the horse slipped and fell on him, badly straining his right foot.

Two Entries for Dramatic Contest

Second Competition Will Be The Last For This Season

The second dramatic contest will be held in Redcliff as so in the New Year as competing organizations can prepare themselves.

So far the Rheka Lodge and the High School Literary Society have signified their intention of entering the second contest. Entries will close, therefore, with the application of one more organization.

Committees must submit the play selected to the convenor on or before December 15th. Only plays of the highest standard will be accepted, so that the public will be assured of a first class entertainment.

The second contest will be the last one to be presented locally. Should the winners of this competition show sufficient interest, it might be possible to arrange for them to appear in the Empire theatre, edine Hat, at a later date.

PRIRIE POPULATION IS NOW INCREASING

Population of the prairie provinces increased 392,537 during the ten year period 1921-1931, according to census bulletins. By electoral districts issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics this week. Medicine Hat constituency is the only one in Alberta which shows a shrinkage in population. It has 3,647 less than in 1921.

Redcliff Quartette Have Narrow Escape

Car Struck on Railway Crossing By a Freight

Four young men, who were on their way to a social gathering, had a narrow escape from serious injury and possible fatalities last Thursday evening when the car in which they were riding struck a freight train on the east railway crossing in Medicine Hat.

The occupants were Ruby and Lorna Ferns, Foster Dacre and Donald Burk, who were in the car. Ruby got a nasty cut on the forehead but the others escaped with only a hot shaking up and a severe shock. That some one was not killed is nothing short of a miracle.

The train carried the automobile forty or fifty feet along the track before the occupants got clear. Fortunately the car kept right side up. This was no doubt accounted for by the snow and frost on the rails, which permitted the car to skid along.

WANTS REPRESENTATION IN HOUSE OF LORDS

A writer in the Sunday Times advocates admission of dominion citizens in the British House of Lords. He bases his suggestion upon the claim that, if the dominions have an equal voice with Great Britain in questions affecting the succession of the throne or Royal titles, they ought to be represented in some visible and closer association with the Crown.

Britain Bars Fake Imperial Trade Imports

To Prevent Dominions Being Used as Assembly Ground

The British Board of Trade has fixed 25 per cent, as the necessary Empire content for goods entering Great Britain from the Dominions if they are to qualify on the Empire preferential tariff free list drawn up as part of the anti-dumping act.

This means that exports from Canada to the United Kingdom coming under the anti-dumping orders must contain at least 25 per cent of Canadian labor and materials to qualify for free entry. The purpose of the new order so far as Canada is concerned, is to prevent the Dominion being used as an assembly ground for United States parts which would subsequently be shipped to Great Britain as Empire products.

THE POOL GUARANTEE ALTA. LOSS IS $5,500,000

Alberta's share of the loss on what pool guarantees will be around $5,500,000. Premier Brownlee said when commenting on the statement of Premier Braken of Manitoba.

"No ultimate loss is expected by this province," the premier added, "in view of the fact that it is holding first mortgage security which, valued at a most conservative basis, is between $8,000,000 and $9,000,000."

Alberta made a good showing with both grain and stock at the Winter Fair in Toronto.

Canadian Pacific is Leader in Team Work And Good Will With Organized Labor Bodies

Nearly 60 years ago, the Canadian Pacific set the pace for all the other railroads on the continent, by completing the first known wage agreement for railway employees. In establishing a schedule of regulations and rates for employees between Montreal and Chalk River, Ont., dated February 1, 1886.

The story is fully told in the "men's Journal" by A. P. Hayden, Canadian representative, a brief resume of whose article follows here. Looking back on the half-century of the company's history, the event seems almost prophetic of its importance, for as Mr. Hayden points out, it is doubtful if any organization has been maintained and is continuing to maintain such good relations with its workers. Today, if difficult labor bodies are recognized by the company, collective bargaining has replaced individual dealing; strikes and lockouts and, in a word, team work is the order of the day.

Neither the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers nor the Brotherhood of Railway Men and Enginemen has ever been involved in a strike or locked out by the C.P.R. During the first ten years of this railway's operation it experienced most serious and difficult problems of a financial nature, and a very early and liberal policy was adopted more liberally with its employees than it did. Beginning about 1890, however, the employees felt that the railway was being well established and making splendid progress with substantial assistance from government sources, should give consideration to the employees' welfare as well as to its own.

The employees, recognizing that railways are not charitable institutions, organized, and through their elected representatives negotiated with the Canadian Pacific Railway Company to establish contractual relations covering working conditions and rates of pay.

Thus the Canadian Pacific was the first railway in Canada to extend general recognition of the principle of collective bargaining and union recognition to its employees. "For about 20 years or more, from 1890 to 1910 the Canadian Pacific Railway has been foremost of all railways in Canada in extending courteous, reasonable treatment to its employees, while during the past ten years it has closely cooperated with other lines, thereby lessening the danger of strikes and stabilizing the whole railway wage situation."

The picture shows W. L. Stevens, C.P.R. vice-president of the Order of Railway Telegraphers, says: "During the first ten years of this railway's operation it experienced most serious and difficult problems of a financial nature, and a very early and liberal policy was adopted more liberally with its employees than it did. Town Council Has Quiet Session

Relief Work Takes up Much Time at the Meeting

Very little business of importance was transacted at the regular meeting of the council last Monday evening, as most of the time was taken up with the consideration of applications for direct relief and relief work.

A letter was read from the Department of Public Works, approving of the action of council regarding relief work.

The Utilities Board also wrote approving of action of council in granting direct relief to several homes in town.

W. Nussey waited on council and complained about cattle being allowed to run at large and damaging his property.

The school board wrote asking for the usual grant for teachers' salaries, and same was ordered to be paid over.

Minutes of the Redcliff Relief Committee were read and the drive for the National Emergency fund. A motion was passed assuring the organization of council's co-operation.

The Mayor reported that work on improvements at the pump station was progressing favorably as was also the general relief program.

Work on the conservation dam a mile east of Stair dam, is now completed. This was built to conserve the water which previously ran down the coulee.

The C. P. R. passenger timetable changed last Sunday. No. 1 now goes west at 2:35 p. m. No. 2 goes east at 7:25 a. m. and No. 4 at 9:12 p. m.

LOST 20 LBS. FAT Without Altering Diet

To reduce weight without any attention to diet is rather more than anyone should expect. That the Krukenberg method should have succeeded in this case, is a great tribute to its effectiveness.

"When I started taking Krukenberg for reducing weight, I weighed 170 lbs. That was seven months ago. I divided 170 by 10, and got 17. Thanks to the half teaspoonful of Krukenberg every morning, I tip the scale at 150 lbs. I have seen that weight for nearly four months. I may say I feel much better. I did not diet myself in any way whatever."—J.C. Krukenberg, 3415 St. George Street, Montreal, Quebec.

More than 200,000 people have used Krukenberg—like so many products claim to do. But taken regularly over a period of time—with a modified diet and gentle exercise, half a teaspoonful in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast will have away unhealthful flesh and restore your figure to its normal weight. Yet at the same time—build up health with a great increase in vigor and energy for you!

Separate Grade For Garment Wheat Asked

May Be Excluded From Contract Grades Of Northern Classes

Garment wheat will be excluded from the contract grades of the northern classes after July 31, 1932. If a resolution passed unanimously by the Western Grain Standards Board is approved and the Canadian Grain Act duly amended at the next session of parliament.

The resolution urged that it be graded as a separate variety of wheat in grades to be known as number one, two and three Garment, with anything which fails to meet the requirements of these grades being included in the lower grades of the red spring wheat.

Worry and Fear

Factors That Help To Shorten the Span of Life

The way that hate, fear, worry and jealousy have helped to choke off at 58 years man's hitherto rapidly increasing span of life, was described to the American College of Surgeons in New York.

The bank president worrying over business, the criminal suddenly seized with fear and the mother watching her sick child all were pictured as doing the same injury to their health.

This increase to 58 as the average time every adult may expect to live was discussed by two internationally known physicians, Dr. George W. Crile of the Cleveland Clinic, and Dr. Charles H. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn.

Dr. Crile told the medical story of revivals of emotions of modern civilization. Dr. Mayo sketched remedies for ill health, which included newspapers as the greatest educating thought-moulding enterprise in the world.

CROSS-OVER LINES TEND TO MAKE THE FIGURE APPEAR SLIM

You'll love this silk crepe shantung in powder blue and white.

It's so extremely serviceable. Its moulded lines with wrapped arrangement through the bodice makes it especially desirable for the woman inclined to overeat. The surplus folds collar of plain white crepe does its bit toward minimizing breadth.

It's simplicity helps to copy it. The bodice cuts is one until it joins the skirt.

It's a splendid opportunity! Choose now! You'll be delighted with this smart model.

Style No. 931 may be had in sizes 16, 18, 20 years, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32, 34, and 36 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material with 1/2 yard of 36-inch contrasting.

Charming for this model for town or resort are the pastel fad crepe, linen, Chinese silk damask, linen and shirring fabric.

Men, Not Good

Arthur Brisbane, a United States editorial writer, comments on the flying performances of the British Lieutenant Stanforth who made a mark of 536 miles per hour, and says: "A nation that can make such airplanes and send men to run them ought not to be discouraged about a few million pounds starting one way or the other. It is what men have in their brains that makes a country."

BRITISH "BOBBIE" STRIVES FOR LAW AND ORDER

This lively caricature is far more reminiscent of what is expected of Red Russia than of usually staid, peaceable London, but such scenes as this Red Russian in a London policeman and several marchers in an unemployment parade, have become frequent in the British capital as demonstrations increase over prevailing economic conditions.

The policeman was trying to tear a red banner from the hands of the demonstrators as this picture was snapped in exclusive Oxford Street, London, England.

China Becoming Modern

Western Mode Of Living Is Being Gradually Adopted

That China is rapidly narrowing the gap of centuries between its antiquated mode of living and modern civilization has been evidenced in many ways. The Chinese student in the Department of Physics at the University of Saskatchewan, told a service club that man would never reach the moon nor other planets, such desires, he said, must ever remain in the world of fancy.

Dr. Currie blamed meteoric activity for much poor radio reception, declaring that falling meteors "ionized" the atmosphere and created a difficult radio path. He stated that more than 20,000,000 meteors strike the world's atmosphere daily, and predicted that around November 16 or 17, next year, a tremendous "shower" of meteors would be seen.

The professor declared that the whole planetary system originated about 300,000,000 years ago, basing his calculations on "radio activity" present in many rocks of the earth. Other interesting statements included a hazard that the atmosphere of this world extends about 100 to 110 miles high and that most meteorites start glowing when they are 15 miles above the earth.

The New Honey Grades

Canadian Standards For Honey Provide A Natural Classification

The consuming public are showing a special interest in the attractive appearance and convenient identification of quality which is made possible by the new honey grades, which come into effect this year. Where honey is sold by grade the grading must conform to the Canadian standards. The Canadian standards for honey provide a natural classification by color into the four classes "White," "Golden," "Amber," and "Dark." These classes in turn are graded strictly on the quality basis as "Fancy," "Choice" or "Manufacturers." The honey grades are especially popular because of the consistency of the application of grade terminology to the product when graded, the inherent quality of the honey literally speaks for itself.

The woman of Turkey's officialdom must turn their eyes from the mode of Paris and buy their gowns at home, the cabinet has decided. The act against foreign garment applies even to President Mustafa Kemal, who must forgo his London tailor's services. It's all part of a national economy programme.

No Inter-Planetary Communication

University Professor Has No Faith In Trips To The Moon Or Other Planets

Venturing into the realm of prophecy, Dr. Rolfur W. Currie, Ph.D., of the Department of Physics at the University of Saskatchewan, told a service club that man would never reach the moon nor other planets, such desires, he said, must ever remain in the world of fancy.

Dr. Currie blamed meteoric activity for much poor radio reception, declaring that falling meteors "ionized" the atmosphere and created a difficult radio path. Increased Postal Revenues

Substantial Decrease Is Noted By Postmaster General

Substantial revenue in postal revenues, with every prospect of last year's deficit being overtaken, is indicated in reports of postal business presented to him, Arthur Meade, postmaster-general. Since assuming that portfolio, Mr. Meade has applied himself industriously to the task of converting a heavy deficit into a surplus and recently expressed satisfaction with the result, which promises well for the future.

One feature of the increased postal business is the marked advance in third-class mail matter. "It this conveys anything at all," declared one official, "it suggests that business houses and industrial concerns have greatly widened their advertising campaigns. Third-class mail embraces printed matter—brochures and such like. The doubling of this business in September indicates a pronounced confidence on the part of merchandising houses in the gradual betterment of conditions generally."

Lending support to this is the 10 per cent. increase in registered mail during September. Second-class mail matter has retained its position, while the increase in letter mail is more than offset by increases in other directions.

For the first three months of the fiscal year the department was $200,000 in "the red" from last year, but the months of July and August, overtook $400,000 of that, and from now on officials look for a steady upswing.

Young Jap Is Independent

Eleven-Year-Old Boy On Long Trip Shows His Mettle

Prize money high in the Japanese and it gets its start at an early age. Young Mr. Haruo Inouye, 11-year-old Japanese boy, who travelled alone from Toronto to Vancouver via Canadian National Railways, possesses a fiery independence that runs in protest when a representative of the Traveller's Aid remarked that Haruo looked no more than eight years old.

"You're good," was the young Oriental's cryptic reply. Master Inouye decided to take a walk around Winnipeg before the Continental Limited steamed on west, and when the passenger agent, whose charge he was, left momentarily, he nodded in the direction of the uniformed official and said: "Tell the president not to worry. I'll be back."

Haruo's father is dead and now his guardian, with whom he lived in Toronto, has also passed beyond, so the independent little lad was on his way to join an older brother in Vancouver. He accepted words of sympathy with a shake of his head, a flashing smile and a terse, "Goes 'til I fixed, but I'll get along."

Growth Of Swedish Town

Modern City Was Arctic Wilderness Twenty Years Ago

A little more than twenty years ago the driving force of the town of Kiruna, Sweden, was nothing more than Arctic wilderness, the abode of wandering Lapps and herds of reindeer. Today it is a bustling community of 13,000 inhabitants which serves as the commercial center of a vast iron industry with a history as romantic as the most adventurous pioneering exploits of North America. Swedish engineering skill has placed in the center of polar wastes a small modern city with as many up-to-date mechanical comforts as the most fastidious American city dweller could wish for.

In the industrial world, Kiruna has become known for its almost unlimited iron ore resources. Figures given by officials of the mining syndicate which controls life here prophesy show that more than 6,000,000 tons of iron ore were produced during 1930. A steady annual gain has been recorded since the mines were first worked on a large scale, about 1911.

Ex-Kaiser Leads Active Life

Occupies Time Taking Several Forms Of Physical Exercise

Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm is not the old, worn-out man that many people think him to be. Quite on the contrary, he leads a very active life, according to the Dorn correspondent of the Berlin Times. His household consists of some sixty persons, and he continually receives visits from members of the former royal family.

The ex-kaiser relies to a large extent on physical exercise to occupy his time. He arises at 6 a.m. and often takes a brisk walk before morning chafin! at 8. Breakfast is at 9. During the remaining of the morning he either plays tennis, indulges in wood chopping or again strolls through the woods adjoining the palace.

He is accompanied on his walks by his pack of dogs—three dachshunds, a Russian pointer and a German shepherd dog. He has so completely cleaned out his own park of fallen and dead wood that it is forced to rely on his neighbor to "give" him work to do.

Value To Canadian Agriculture Of The Chemical Work Carried On By Our Experimental Farms

For a period of more than forty years the division of Chemistry of the Dominion Experimental Farm system has been in close contact with the Canadian farmer. This has been brought about by the issue of reports and bulletins by lectures and addresses, personal interviews and to a still greater degree by a voluminous and ever-increasing correspondence.

The information so disseminated is largely the result of investigation and research which are based upon the application of the science of chemistry to practical agriculture, and these constitute the main work of the division.

A large number of soil samples are received for examination from farmers scattered throughout the Dominion. In the report of analysis to the sender, advice is given with respect to soil amendments, such as lime, soluble fertilizers, etc., in this way alone hundreds of farmers every year are directly benefiting from the service of the division. From the results of carefully planned investigations the influence of continuous grain-growing has been determined. The best methods of maintaining the fertility of western prairie soils have been determined. The extensive use of manure and clover in present-day crop rotations is largely due to the early work of the division in which the manifold value of these legumes was demonstrated.

Recent years have witnessed an increasing use of fertilizers, especially in eastern Canada. Extremely valuable information with respect to the economic employment of fertilizers and liming materials has resulted from the investigation work carried on by the division on the several branch farms and stations.

Another important phase of the work has been the establishing of standards for the more important feeding stuffs. Some years ago there was widespread dissatisfaction over the variable quality of many of the products. Many were loaded with screenings with consequent poorer feeding value. Injurious weed seeds were frequently present, and midlings with a low fibre content, so necessary in pig-feeding, were difficult to obtain. Standards for bran, shorts, middlings and feed flour were set, regulations regarding adulterations by screenings passed and as a result there is on the market today standardized clean, high-grade, wheat by-product. Similar work has been done for packing house by-products, resulting in the vending of properly labelled material with guaranteed contents of protein, fat and bone-phosphate.

In the chemistry of wheat it has been shown that seasonal conditions—precipitation, temperature, etc.—have a greater influence on the quantity and quality of the gluten than does soil fertility. The variation of newly introduced varieties has been another phase of the work. For instance, some years ago an effort was made by interested parties to distribute in the West a variety of wheat to replace Marquis and as a result many varieties. Yields, appearance and even percentage of protein of this variety were satisfactory. Gluten determinations, however, showed this wheat to possess a soft, sticky, non-resistant gluten, markedly inferior to that of such older varieties as Pitt and Marquis. In consequence the distribution of this variety was discouraged.

Grain mixtures grown to produce high protein yields have been under investigation. As a result certain mixtures have been found which almost double the amount of protein per unit area formerly obtained.

The critical examination of a recently introduced species of pasture calls for special comment. This system involves the growing of a crop accompanied by judicious fertilizer treatment, has produced a herbage rich in protein during the entire growing season and has resulted, in some districts, in saving the purchase price of commercial feeds, during the summer.

Free analysis of well water has contributed towards the maintenance of hygienic conditions through the farming districts. Thousands of samples of well water have been analyzed, pollution, alkalinity, etc., detected and remedies suggested.

At one time the export trade in pork to Great Britain was seriously affected by extreme softness of the product. Investigation of this problem proved that the chief factors leading to softness in pork were the stage of maturity of the animals and the character of the feed—skim-milk in the lard possessing a correcting influence in the prevention of this undesirable quality.

The foregoing paragraphs present but a small proportion of the work of the division. These examples, however, may serve to emphasize the value to Canadian agriculture of the chemical work of the Dominion Experimental Farms.

WHAT NEW YORK IS WEARING Illustrated Dressmaking Lesson Followed With Every Pattern Today's little dress delights in its smart simplicity. It is cut along lovely slim lines and therefore suitable for many figures. And it has a pert bow added to its tiny contrasting vest. Its remarkable how such an addition can be so charming. The diagonal seaming at the front of the skirt is decorative and slimming too. The skirt is circular with moderate fulness. A dark printed crepe silk print made the original. Style No. 3219 may be had in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20 years, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Alter silk georgette crepe, plain net crepe silk and wool and silk crepe novelties have stunning effects in this model. Size 16 requires 5 1/2 yards 36-inch with 1/2 yard 36-inch contrasting. Pattern price 25 cents in slippa or cut along carefully.

Should Be Two Years

One Year Record For Dairy Cow Not Fair Test Of Value

Too many dairymen are prone to judge a cow's value by a one-year record of her total production over a period of years, says K. B. Morrow, associate extension service dairyman of the New Jersey Agricultural Experiment Station. He says it requires approximately two years of milk production for a good cow to pay off the charge against her for rearing or purchase, after pointing out that it costs money to buy a cow or to rear one to a productive age.

"Whether or not a cow will be highly profitable depends on how many years she continues to return a good profit over the cost of her maintenance," Mr. Morrow emphasizes. "One ten-year-old cow will produce as much profit above all expenses as three cows that are kept in the herd until only three years old, assuming the average yearly production is the same for all animals."

"If the cows freshen at 2 years of age, the dairymen would have to milk three cows for four years to equal returns for one cow milked eight years. Care of three cows requires 50 per cent. more labour. The investment in cows and feed is also 50 per cent. more than is necessary for one high producer."

Testing Cinder Deflector

Invention Of Montreal Man Being Tried Out By C.N.R.

Passengers in railway coaches should have no fear of hot cinders when they open windows of railway coaches if a new patented cinder deflector, being tried out on the London division of the Canadian National Railways, proves effective. The cinder deflector was invented by a Montreal man and was recently placed on engine No. 4148 on C.N.R. train 17, Montreal to Chicago. It attracted considerable attention. The deflector is a box-like device open at front and rear. It fits around the smokestack, catching the air and making pressure to the smoke from the stack. The theory is that the force of the wind entering the device will be sufficient to lift all cinders high in the air with the smoke and keep them up until the train has passed under its own smoke cloud.

Excellent Wheat Quality

This Year's Western Wheat Crop Of High Protein Content

Additional tests of the milling and baking qualities of the 1931 crop have confirmed early conclusions that this year's crop is equal, if not superior, to that of any year examined. The tests were conducted by Dr. F. J. Hirsch, chemist in charge of the research laboratory of the Board of Grain Commissioners.

The weights per bushel of the first four grades are all higher than last year. The average weight for No. 1 hard is 60 1/2 pounds; for No. 1 northern, 60; No. 2 northern, 61 1/2; No. 3 northern, 62 1/2. With the increase in weight, there is a corresponding increase in the percentage of flour in each grade. The average protein content is placed at 14.3 per cent. for the first four grades in Dr. Hirsch's report.

"The baking quality of the first four grades is fully equal, if not superior to last year," says the report. "This is indicated by the very large loaf and excellent texture of the loaves both when baked by themselves and when blended with typical soft wheats."

Attention is called to the relatively small percentage of wheat grading three northern or lower. Of the wheat passing through Winnipeg, 38.8 per cent. graded one northern, 34.1 per cent. two northern, 21.6 per cent. one hard, and only 4.5 per cent. three northern, and one percent. in the wheat.

While the samples tested include wheat from the three prairie provinces, comparatively little from the northern sections of Saskatchewan and Alberta has been inspected. Heavy rains recently in those areas may affect the wheat.

LEADERS OF CANADIAN BAR IN SESSION

From east and west Canada's leading barristers met at the 16th annual meeting of the Canadian Bar Association held during September at the Manoir Richelieu, Montreal, Quebec. Officially opened by His Excellency the Governor-General, the sessions were also attended by distinguished leaders of the bar from England, France and the United States. The program included a general gathering between business sessions; Inset, Louis B. St. Laurent, K.C., Quebec, re-elected president of the Association, and K. H. Coleman, K.C., Winnipeg, re-elected secretary; bottom, a group of outstanding members and speakers photographed in front of the Manoir Richelieu. Industry Must Take Leading Part In The Battle Against Depression, Says Dr. Manion

Calling upon industrial and business leaders together with men and women to every walk of life to pool their initiative in evolving a permanent cure for economic depression, Hon. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals addressed at Windsor, the convention of the Boards of Trade and Chambers of Commerce of Ontario. Civilization was being challenged; it was on trial and "it is the duty of all good Canadians to give serious thought to the whole matter to avoid our civilization going the way of civilizations in the past."

Communism was not the cure, Dr. Manion hastened to add. Unemployment, hunger and hardship formed fertile ground for the seeds of Bolshevism. "Our whole system of production and distribution is out of gear. That is why paid agents of Moscow are in our midst today, feeding upon discontent like wild birds of prey. These agents must be suppressed, for while our civilization has its faults, we can grow no more than these conditions without crippling or destroying our whole political and economic structure."

Notwithstanding its nature, any plan or policy to combat economic conditions must be contributory, continued Dr. Manion. The employer, the employer and the state must contribute. Without elaborating on it, the federal minister said one per cent. of all the wages and salaries paid annually in Canada, would amount to $20,000,000. "What good Canadian," he added, "would object to contributing one dollar of every hundred dollars he earns to protect himself and his fellow Canadian from the tragedy of unemployment?" In some such manner, modified according to circumstances, an immense fund could be built up in the full years to protect us in the lean years."

Industry must take a leading part in the battle against depression, continued Dr. Manion. The Dominion government and municipal governments were able to do only so much after that point other agencies must take the lead. For one thing, the industry must change its tempo of production. "With industry the system in the past has been to go full blast ahead in prosperous years or seasons, utilizing to the full its large factories, marvellous machines and the human element, but when depression arrives, the industries slow down and the workers have to be cared for by the state until the next period of prosperity arrives."

The Dominion this year was spending about $50,000,000 in caring for the unemployed and this could not continue indefinitely. "If our political and economic system is to endure," said Dr. Manion, "the utmost must be done in industry, commerce and public life must try to evolve the alternating peaks of prosperity and depths of depression, and industry must give its assistance to the fullest. We must, in other words, stop investing in industrial machines which take employment from the hands of the workers and try to develop instead a social machine which will keep some people reasonably employed and so give us a contented and happy people. This is the best antidote to the poison of communism."

Dr. Manion closed his speech on a note of optimism. The country possessed immense natural resources, its banking system was strong and sound, the people were law-abiding, excellent ocean ports dotted the shoreline, unbounded commercial opportunities existed, particularly in the Orient and along the lines of preferential Empire trade. While this was not the time to "rock the boat" or "quibble over trifles," likewise it was not the time to pay undue heed to "economic pessimists." There could be no doubt about Canada's future. "Its greatness is still to come."

Lambs From E.P. Ranch Show Top Grade Form

Royal Ranch Has Done Much To Hoose Standard Of Sheep Raising In Alberta

The Department of Agriculture at Ottawa has just received the formal report on the grading of 22 ram lambs under the Federal Ram Grading Policy of the 21st district XXXXXX. The ram lambs were graded by E.P. Ranch has been brought out. J.H.H. the Prince of Wales has been giving special attention for a number of years to the improvement of his flock, importing high grade wethers from British flocks, and going farther afield to get rams with a view to improving fleece as well as body type. Sales of graded ram lambs and other rams from the flock have done much to raise the standard for the breed in Alberta, and also to increase the popularity and worth of sheep raising as an industry, particularly in the West.

What Canada Spends Annually On Pupils

Sixty-Six Dollars Approximate Sum For Each One

Schools and colleges of Canada teach, roughly, one-quarter of the country's population and are attended by 2,460,025 pupils, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Each pupil involves an annual expenditure of approximately $66, the total cost being $161,391,186. An instructional staff of 83,144 teachers supervises the educational requirements of "Canada junior." Provincially-controlled schools of general education embrace 2,106,878 and the privately-controlled $2,775 (constituting from the calculation the enrolment of the Roman Catholic schools of Quebec).

"The Splendid" of the Herald
Hedder & Blount, Ltd., London.

Jenn, always sensitive to her surroundings, shivered a little.

"It's rather eerie, isn't it?" she noticed. "It's just as if someone had suddenly turned the lights out."

"Quite a nice bit of symbolism," he returned enigmatically, "but I don't

"How I don't think I understand."

"How should you? You're young.

Pats doesn't come and snuff out the lights for you when you are—what shall we say? Right?"

"You're two years old," replied

Jenn, smiling.

"As much? Then let's hope you're as much the longer to wait before Madame Destiny comes round with her ruffians."

He spoke with a kind of bitter humour, the backwash surely, of some storm through which he must have passed. Jenn looked across at him with a vague trouble in her face.

"Then, do you think—" she spoke uncertainly—"do you believe it is invariable that she will come—or later?"

"No, hope not to you," he said gently. "But she comes in most of us."

She longed to put another question, but there was a note of finality in his voice—a kind of "there for shall be come no further"—that warned her to probe no deeper. Whatever it was, it was bitter that lay in the Englishman's past, he had no intention of sharing the knowledge with his chance companion of a day. He needed to have become absorbed once more in his own thoughts, and for a time they tramped along together in silence.

The ascent steepened perceptibly, and Jenn, light and active as she was, found it hard work to keep pace with the man's steady, swinging stride.

Apparently his thoughts engrossed him to the exclusion of everything else, for he appeared to have utterly forgotten her existence. It was only when a slip of her foot on the bare surface of the snow wrung a exclamation from her that he paused, wheeling round in consternation.

"I hear your partner's calling you off your heels! Why on earth did you stop me?"

"There was something dreadfully foolish about the quick apology, Jenn laughed, a little breathless from the climb uphill.

"You seemed so bent on getting to the top in the least possible time, she replied demurely, "that I didn't like to disappoint you."

"I'm afraid I make a poor sort of guide," he admitted. "I was thinking of something else. You must forgive me."

"They resumed their climb more humanly. The trees were thinner a bit now and ahead, between the tall, straight trunks waving with drooping twigs—lean trunks, they could catch glimpses of the white world beyond.

Presently they came out above the low-wood on to the edge of a broad plateau and Jenn uttered an exclamation of delight, gazing spell-bound at the scene thus suddenly unfolded behind them, in the snow-clad valley, a frozen reach of water gleaming like a dull sheet of metal, whilst before them, far above, stretched the
